

Tempest is overdue for a break.

Far from Manhattan and the Genesis Bureau of Investigation, she escapes to the sunlit shores of the Aegean Sea with her business partner, and part-time lover, Bo Romanos.

But peace doesn't last.

A baby Minotaur has been kidnapped.

With only 48 hours before the trail goes cold, Tempest is pulled into a case outside GBI jurisdiction.

No mortals. No Bureau. She's on her own.

The deeper she digs, the darker it gets. A hidden underworld of mythological crime threatens to ignite an ancient war between Minotaurs and Centaurs.

With the help of Oro, the two-headed hound, and a network of Sirens, Tempest races to find the missing child before time runs out.

Some cases don't end cleanly.

Some wars won't stay buried.

If she fails, she loses everything... even her future as Queen of Oceanus.